Grocers and Importers

GARDEN AND FIELD SEEDS,

FRESH and reliable. Our Seed can be found at all the leading Drug Stores and Seed Dealers South. The trade will please send their orders in early to enable us to fill them promptly. Address as above.

FARM-YARD SCRAPS.

Oats may yet be sown.

Cabbage seed ought to be sown.

Sorghum should not be neglected.

Sweet Potatoes should be bedded early.

Tomatoes, peppers, Squash and other tender plants, should be sown.

Prepare your ground for Snap Beans, but do not plant till settled warm weather.

Sugar Corn for the first crop should be planted early. Common Corn planted at the same time will come in later.

Plant Mangoes as soon as possible after settled warm weather comes on, and if frost should threaten, carefully protect them.

This should be a busy month in the Flower Garden. Seeds of most annual flowers should be sown this month. The main requisites for success are to have the soil in a friable condition, so as not to bake, and to sow the seeds the right depth. Very small seeds should be sown on the top, and merely pressed in; larger ones deeper, in proportion to their size.

Corn planting time is now upon us, and we hope the planting will be well and largely done, so as to secure enough corn for home use throughout the South. We have given, in various back numbers, our views, and those of others on the best mode of planting. Good judgment, however, must be used in applying any general rules. Modes of planting and cultivation must be varied to suit different circumstances. It is well to plant as early as the state of the weather and of the soil will permit, but not to take large risks in the way of frost.

Extracts Rural Carolinian.

STRAWBERRIES.

In Europe the forcing of Strawberries has been extensively practiced for a long time, but in this country very little attention has been paid to this system of cultivation until within the past few years.

There are few plants that will grow more readily, or produce more fruit in proportion to the expense incurred, than the Strawberry when grown under glass.

The soil in which the plants are to be grown should be exceedingly rich. A compost made of three-fourths old sods or turfy loam, and one-fourth barn-yard manure, will be found excellent for this purpose, and if there is considerable cow manure among the latter so much the better.

Mix these materials together, and let them become thoroughly decomposed before using. The more frequently the compost is turned over, the less time it will require for its decomposition.

Leaf mold from the woods or friable muck, with a little addition of pure sand, will answer in the place of sods.

AGRICULTARAL NOSTRUMS.

As the season of operations is approaching we trust that we will not be assuming too much in warning farmers against the tricks of those who offer to sell to them at enormous prices some wonderful new grain, tuber or root.

We have tried our best (says the Germantown Telegraph) heretofore to protect them against these swindlers, but not always with the success we could desire.

A million of dollars was sunk in the "wine plant," which was nothing but the common rhubarb—and we told them so over and over again at the start. Some farmers in the West invested their all in this miserable humbug and became bankrupt.

The "Norway Oats" business is not far removed from this. Indeed it is pronounced an arrant swindle, by many. For ourselves we would not at any time have paid the price of common oats for it; and from all the information we possess, it is no more productive than other kinds, weighs only from twenty-eight to thirty pounds to the bushel, and sells at two or three cents less per bushel than white oats. And yet how many farmers allowed themselves to be sold by it.

PLANT AN ORCHARD.

No matter if your farm is small or large, do not rest content until you have an orchard of fruit trees. We do not advise the farmers indiscriminate, (says the Countryman,) to undertake to raise fruit for market. Each one should judge for himself as to the feasibility of such an enterprise. But we do say to every farmer, raise fruit, or try to do so at least for the use of your own family. It will pay in pleasure and health if you never sell a dollar's worth. In selecting varieties, choose those kinds that usually do well in your locality. Deal, if possible, with reliable fruit tree dealers, rather than with agents who are strangers to you. And do not set out an orchard under the delusion that setting out the trees will be about all the work that will be necessary. In this day of many enemies to fruit and fruit trees, it may be said that eternal vigilance is the price of fruit. Land devoted to fruit trees need not be worthless to the owner. Some valuable crops can be raised in the orchard almost until the trees become old enough to bear, and by the time they reach bearing age, in this case, there will probably be a market close enough. But as we said above, if you never sell a dollar's worth of fruit, your orchard assuredly will, if properly attended to, pay you and your family, in health and comfort, for all your labor and expense."

A Strange Story.

[From a letter of the Rev. H. Sinsabaugh's in the Mason County Journal.]

"I knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago. (whether in the body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the body, I cannot tell; God knoweth:) such an one caught up to the third heaven."—St. Paul.

I have been requested by many persons to give to the public an account of a very singular occurrence that occurred recently within the bounds of my district. I shall give you names, dates, and facts, allowing your readers to draw their own inferences, and desiring that any who may be incredulous as to the facts may have the privilege of ascertaining their verity, as there are, perhaps, more than a hundred persons in that neighborhood who will readily bear witness.

In November, Rev. Joseph N. Pershing of the Saltsburg circuit began a series of meetings at Kelly station, on the West Pennsylvania railroad, where the Methodists have a small, unfinished church and a very feeble society. A sermon was preached one night and penitents invited forward, when a young lady, Miss Emeline Taylor, a daughter of Mr. John Taylor, of White station, a young lady of quiet and amiable disposition, came forward for prayer. She remained at the altar for quite a length of time, appearing to be calm in mind and yet earnestly and devoutly looking for the mercy of God. About 9 o'clock her prayer seemed to have been answered. Her face wore an expression of unusual brightness as she looked upward, repeated several times with distinct emphasis, "O, that beautiful place over there," She became entirely unconscious, and was carried to a house near by, it being thought unadvisable to remove her to her father's house, which was about three miles distant. In this condition she remained for seven days, in the meantime taking no nourishment whatever.

On Tuesday she began to speak in a low tone of voice, and for half an hour told of another world, after which she remained silent for several hours. She spoke of having been conducted to the place of lost souls, had heard their wailings of despair, and then conducted to the gates of heaven. Her description of what she saw and heard was so vivid and transporting that the large company present wept freely. She spoke of those whom she had known who had died, and were recognized in glory, clad in shining raiment, with unknown names on their foreheads. She called them over by name, one after another, including the names of all the children she had known who had died, with all those tokens of surprise and delight that attend an actual greeting of long absent friends.

The first of whom she spoke were two ministers. One was the Rev. A. H. Thomas, of the Pittsburg Conference; the other was the Rev. Mr. White, of the Presbyterian Church, once the pastor of the church at Saltsburg, but some years before had resigned his charge for another in Ohio. He was not known to any present as deceased, but upon inquiry it was found that he had died a few days before. Of this event neither Miss Taylor nor any member of her father's family had heard.

Persons were recognized there whom she did not expect to see, while others for whom she inquired she was informed were not among that number. Many other things concerning another world were written down, and are lying before me, expressed in language most beautiful and appropriate, but which, if given, would trespass upon the columns of your paper.

Many expedients were used to restore her to consciousness, among which were singing and animated religious services, but all without the desired effects. On Friday her friends became very much alarmed, owing to the opinions expressed by the physicians that having been so long without food she would never be restored. The effort was made to give her some nourishment, but in vain. She was asked whether she would ever be able to rise, when she replied: "My Saviour has not yet told me." At different times she had spoken of her Saviour as present with her as her Guide and Instructor. Shortly after this she told them that her Saviour had just informed her that she might return to earth on Sabbath evening at 9 o'clock. This statement occasioned a joyful surprise to her anxious friends. The father said that should it thus come to pass he would believe all she would say concerning the future state.

On Sabbath evening a large company of the neighbors had gathered to learn the sequel. There was no clock in her room, nor any way in which she could mark the night or the hours, for her eyes had remained closed from the first. At three minutes before 9 she raised her right hand and waved it as if giving farewell to persons vanishing in the distance, and then raised her left hand in like manner, and at precisely 9 o'clock she opened her eyes, spoke a greeting to her friends, began praising the Lord, and called upon those around to join her in praise for His great mercy. When asked if she was hungry she replied that she was not in the least; that she had been fed with milk and honey, and, indeed, her strength was so wonderfully renewed that it seemed that she had been fed by an unseen hand.

A NOVELTY.

Cars Without Wheels Gliding Over a Revolving Track.

[From the Jersey City Times.]

The demand for quick transit in New-York city has brought out many ingenious inventions. The latest is that of General Imboden, of Richmond, Va., which can scarcely be described without illustrations. The structure for carrying way is to be a wire suspension-bridge, running the whole length of the city, supported by iron columns one hundred feet apart, twenty-five feet high, resting upon granite pedestals on the line of the curbstones on both sides of the street. A light ornamental iron arch springs from the top of these columns, and, spanning the street, supports the iron piers over which the wire cables are stretched. One of these cables is over the axis of the street, the other two are half-way between this and the supporting columns. Immediately under these cables, and attached to them, are the glides to which the tracks are suspended—one for the down trains, and the other for the trains going up town. The track or roadway is the most striking novelty of the invention. It is composed of pairs of rollers similar to car wheels, secured upon a suitable axle, which revolves upon ordinary friction rollers. This rotary track has its wheels ten feet apart, and under it the cars are suspended by rails thirty-two feet long, that glide over the rollers with perfect freedom and safety. Six strong elliptic springs connect these rails with ease, and will insure a motion almost as soft as the undulations of a boat. The motive power is supplied by stationary engines located in buildings or under the streets. These engines are one mile apart; and propel an endless wire cable or chain around light horizontal drums, sixteen feet in diameter. The attachment to the car is so simple that a boy ten years old can work it, and the cable is so constructed as not to be liable to get out of order or break; but if such an accident should occur, a new cable being ready, can be put in a few minutes. The cars are intended to to be thirty feet long and ten feet wide, divided into three compartments, and seating comfortably forty-two passengers each. They may run singly or in trains, and safely at the rate of thirty miles an hour. The stations it is proposed to locate at about equal distances of half a mile apart; and, spanning cross-streets, they will obstruct no business place. The bottom of the cars will swing fifteen feet above the surface of the street, thus clearing all the stages and wagons passing under them. Gen. Imboden claims that the operation of the road will be almost noiseless and not likely to frighten horses.

The whole structure is light, graceful, and ornamental, and does not obstruct the street any more than telegraph poles, which, by the way, as well as lamp posts, may all be dispensed with along the line and this structure used instead. Superior cheapness, speed, safety, and capacity are claimed for this novelty, as well as that it will require the minimum amount of power, and can never be a nuisance to foot passengers nor to the occupants of houses along its line. It in no wise resembles the two other elevated railways in New York.

Grant, Sherman and the Rest.

Donn Piatt hired for $17 a window and a platform on Pennsylvania avenue to see the carnival. He says:

I secured for myself a cheap sort of entertainment by undertaking to keep an innocent and pretty country girl advised of the great men taking part in the amusements. I pointed out Admiral Porter in a sulky, behind a bob-tailed pacer, who yelled like an Indian as he darted by. A forlorn looking old shanghai, driving Burchell's advertising wagon, I told her was old Strabismus, commonly called Butler. And I continued in this way until fairly caught. I saw that my little friend was getting suspicious, and that I might expect a storm, and so when old Tecumseh Sherman actually passed, I humbly called her attention to the fact, and she exclaimed indignantly:

"Now you are imposing on me. That queer, crazy-looking man Gen. Sherman? I don't believe it."

She fairly passed into a state of indignation, however, when I truthfully pointed out the President.

"That man—that insignificant looking creature, Gen. Grant? Col. P., I don't believe half you have told me."

"My dear child, you flatter me. When speaking of these illustrious humbugs few people believe anything I say."

"Why don't you tell the truth, then?"

"It is because I do tell the truth. As the old diplomat wrote to his son, 'Come hither, my child, and see by what fools the world is governed.' You come and cannot believe me nor your own eyes. Time was in the dim traditionary past when patriotism, hard study and intellect, went to make the statesmen of the young Republic. Now leaders are made without these, through the easy process of the caucus and a demoralized ballot-box. The officials here do not represent the virtue, intelligence, and patriotism of the few, but the vicious ignorance of the many. And so we have imbecility, corruption, ignorance, and insanity."

Fanny Fern is said to be worth $30,000, in her own right. It was all earned by her pen.

The Incorruptible Senate.

An Improvised Remark.

The departments of a daily paper are as unified as the German States, and sympathize with each other in sentiment and expression just as the Siamese Twins do in bodily health. Hence, the other day, when the editorial department of the Whig, with an aspirated roll, said the INCORRUPTIBLE SENATE, the city department echoed, but not so autocratically, the in-corrupt-i-ble Senate. The Whig said it, and in conspicuous capitals, too, and we, the local of the Richmond Whig don't for our life know, even though we were born in Fredericksburg, how to get out of it, except by telling an anecdote:

Twenty-five or thirty years ago Crabbe W——n was a famous card player, and was familiarly known from Bowling Green and King George courthouse to the Rue Ridge by every fellow who indulged in either "bluff," "all fours" or "sweat." On one occasion a game of ten cents ante was proposed at Culpeper Courthouse, Sam C—— being one of the party. Crabbe felt that he was bound to win, and was consequently in high glee—repeating frequently, even before the party was seated at table, "I want it, boys, distinctly understood, that this is strictly a cash game, for when I play cards even with my best friends, I play for money and not upon credit. A few hands were played. Crabbe winning small amounts, and every time he drew down the stakes he would continue to remark: "I want it understood that this is strictly a cash game—now, no credit, mind you." Several of the party who were losers would petulantly reply, "of course it is a cash game—who in the devil said anything about credit." The game went on, however, and fortune changed. Crabbe losing all his stake and falling in debt some $25 or $30. This being the condition of things when it finally closed. Crabbe got up and silently moved off without saying a word about settling. Sam C—— thereupon called him back, saying, "Crabbe, I thought you said this was a cash game, and here you are the only man going away in debt."

Crabbe could only rejoin, scratching his head, "I know I said it, Sammy, but then it was a d—d imprudent remark."

Husbands on Probation.

While our fine girls are bemoaning the lack of young men, and the scarcity of beaux who are marriageable and mean marriage, there is a class of young men whom they do not recognize at all, yet who will furnish the next generation its men of enterprise, of power, of position, and of wealth. It is not the sons of the rich who will, as a rule, remain rich. The sons of the poor will get rich; and there to-day, drudging in offices, and counting rooms, and store houses, and machine-shops, and printing establishments, the men who, in twenty-five years, will control the nation socially, politically, and financially. Every man of them means to be married; they will, as a rule, make excellent husbands; they are all at work trying to win success. There are men who would be easily improved by recognition, and by bringing them into good intelligent society; yet they are as little noticed as if they were so many dogs. Virtuous young men from the country go into the city, and live for years without any society, and are regarded by the fashionable young women with indifference or contempt—but those young men have a hold upon the future; and when their success is known, in whatever field of enterprise it may be, the fashionables will be glad to receive them as belonging to their own number. We regret to say that, as a rule, the young men for whom a position has been won by virtuous and enterprising fathers amount to but little in the world; and we rejoice to say that companions chosen from those who have their fortunes to make and their positions to win, are those to whom a well bred woman can generally with safety entrust her happiness and herself.

Serious Accident.

A wagon loaded with tobacco and belonging to Mr. Logan P. Anderson, was lost at Pannill's bridge ferry a short time since. The driver of the wagon got his mules on the ferry-boat, but the wheels of the wagon striking against the end of the boat broke or loosened the chain by which it was bound to the river bank. The weight of the wagon drew the mules out of the boat into the river and the wagon, freight and three of the four mules were lost in the stream.

There is another item of the accidents which have happened on Staunton river since the destruction of Pannill's bridge and Ward's bridge, by General Walker's order in 1865. Ward's bridge is under contract to be rebuilt. In the meantime, until a bridge is rebuilt where Pannill's bridge once stood, we are reliably informed that the best routes to Lynchburg now, regarding the safety of transportation over Staunton river, are by Brookneal and Coles' ferry.—Halifax Record.

Marie Antoniette Arrrington, of Petersburg, Va., recently sojourning in Florence, Italy, is about to be led to the hymenial altar by a wealthy young Count of that beautiful country. Miss A. has just entered her twenty-first year, and is described as a dazzling brunette of rare musical accomplishments.

Sherman's Great March.

A Candid Confession from Gen. Kilpatrick.

General Kilpatrick delivered a lecture in Chicago last Friday evening, under the auspices of the Grand Army of the Republic, and in speaking of Sherman's march through Georgia, he said:

Milledgeville was not captured by the army, but by the bummers, who took possession of it five hours in advance of the leading regiment. The rebel mayor, accompanied by lawyers, doctors, deacons and the good men and the bad men of the city, came out with a flag of truce to receive the bummers. One man read a discourse he had prepared for the occasion, setting forth what history might say of the surrender of Milledgeville and the conduct of the Yankee troops. The chief bummer promised all sorts of protection to private property. One Northern man who had lived there a long time, said he had always been a good union man, and loved the old flag, &c. The bummer looked at him for a moment, and then said: "Dry up, dry up; it don't make no difference to me what you are; have you got a watch?" The gentleman was obliged to give up his watch, kill his chickens and prepare a "rum old dinner" for the bummer, while the latter ransacked the house.

These bummers were originally detailed to do the foraging for the army, but they found it so agreeable to roam about that they never returned to their command. They generally belonged to the infantry; at least General Kilpatrick never remembered seeing a cavalry bummer, though there were often more mounted infantry bummers than cavalry in his command. They would fight, and on one occasion, when he was going with 1,000 picked men to secure a bridge, he was met by a bummer, who shouted to him: "Come on, Gen. Kil, come on, Kil; we've got the bridge; come on and help us hold it!" Once when in the advance he entered an old woman's house, and found to his surprise that a bummer had been there before him, and robbed the woman of a canteen of molasses and a plug of tobacco, and then placed a chew of tobacco in her molasses jug out of pure deviltry.

BLESSED.—Blessed is he who does not make a cent, for he will have no income tax to pay.

2. Blessed is the bald headed man, for his wife cannot pull his hair.

3. Blessed is the homely man, for the girls shall not molest him; yea, thrice blessed is he, for when he asketh a lady to dance, she will answer him, saying, "I am engaged for the next set."

4. Blessed is he who polisheth his boots and not his morals; who maketh the outside of his head to shine, but neglected the inside thereof! all girls shall rise up at his command and call him beautiful.

5. Blessed is the man that hath no brains but brass in abundance, for he shall be the ladies' favorite; Selah!

6. Blessed is the man that giveth many and costly presents to young ladies, for great shall be his reward; in a horn.

7. Blessed is the man who is flat broke, for no man saveth unto him, lend me a V!

8. Blessed is the Digger Indian, for unto him no man presenteth a subscription paper.

A WATER-SPOUT ON THE NORTH CAROLINA COAST.—Captain Hall, of the steamship James A. Gary, at this port from Newbern, N. C., reports that on his outward passage, when in Hatteras inlet, observed a water-spout, the largest ever witnessed in that quarter by his pilot, who is one of the oldest on the coast. The water came down in one solid sheet, and in its descent struck a flock of wild geese, killing all of them instantly. There were several schooners in the inlet, the crews of which lowered their boats and secured the dead fowls, several of which were taken to New York on board the steamship Terry. The water-spout is represented as having been a very magnificent sight.—Baltimore Sun.

Mr. John H. Pearsol, one of the editors and proprietors of the Lancaster (Pa.) Express, has the reputation of being one of the fastest compositors in the State. In Philadelphia, in 1837, while working on the "Life of Charles Matthews," he set up 3,800 ems of solid Bourgeois in two hours. The entire work of about five hundred pages was distributed among the principal offices of the city, and was set up in twenty-four hours. Mr. Pearsol is now fifty-three years of age, and says he thinks he can set type as fast as ever. He very often takes up his stick and rule in order to "keep his hand in."

Movable or adjustable horse shoes have become a "fixed fact," and a company in Chicopee, Mass., are engaged in their manufacture. This shoe can be taken off at night, or when the horse is not at work, and put on again when wanted, as easy as a pair of boots.

They have begun in Canada to cultivate rabbits as an article of food, and in European countries, hundreds of miles of coast lands are used as rabbit warrens, and their produce furnishes a cheap and nutritious food for millions, while the furs have considerable value in trade.

WE WILL HAVE A CONVENTION.

From private information we think we will have a Convention somewhere about August next. It is the general opinion that a Convention is demanded to prevent the people from ruin by the exorbitant taxes imposed by the existing Constitution—the people, it is alleged, cannot pay the high taxes it imposes the current year.—Admitting this, and promising that calling a Convention will prove a failure, cannot two thirds of the Legislature lighten the tax imposed by this Constitution? It can! Then let it be done at once. In fact two thirds could save the expense and trouble of a Convention by pruning the State Constitution with Legislative enactments, and it should be done. Reduce the taxes—curtail the number of State Offices—give us our old judicial system with slight alterations—and don't forget to revive that terror to rascals commonly called "the whipping post."

GOV. VANCE.

We deeply regret to learn that North-Carolina's distinguished son, ZEB. VANCE, has returned from Washington in despair of the removal of his "sins" by the radical "saints." ZEB has more honor and patriotism than the whole radical faction combined, and the reason they keep him out of his seat in the senate is because they are afraid that he will tell them of their rascality in a way that will make them call upon the rocks and mountains to hide them. Though we attribute his want of success, in a great measure, to the ku klux disturbances in the State.

THE IMPEACHMENT TRIAL

Progresses slowly. Most of the witnesses examined by the defence are persons who were whipped not on account of politics but rascality. Not a particle of evidence, so for as we can see, has been adduced to prove that any one wanted to "subvert the Government," unless the evidence of Dr. Moore and Mr. James E. Boyd squints in that direction. Their evidence is substantially the same deposed last fall in the so-called ku klux court, except the addendum of Mr. Boyd, who says that Jacob Long told him that Mr. Dickie (a ku klux) of Alamance, but who was then studying law at Yanceyville under Judge Kerr, had told him (Long) a few days before Stephens' death that "the plan" for murdering Stephens "had been arranged or agreed upon."

The evidence is too voluminous for us to copy. Like our friend, the Charlotte Democrat, when the trial is over and published in book form, we will buy a copy if we can for each one of our paying subscribers and mail it to their address.

Gov. Holden is said to be in Washington and quite sick. The Weldon News learns that he has bought him a residence in New Jersey.

More Impeachment.

Judge Jaybird Jones, a gay Lothario, is likely to be impeached for drunkenness and disgraceful conduct. It seems that he was hauled up a few days ago before a Justice of the Peace charged with assault and battery on a dusky wench with whom he had been 'sky-larking,' when Jaybird conducted his own defence, in doing which he rather "got the dead wood" on the Magistrate by asking

Were you at a ball on Thursday night last given at the residence of Mrs. ——— colored?

Answer—I was.

Q. Were you escorted home from the ball, arm and arm by Mr. [presiding] Justice McNamara, and did you spend the night with him?

But before an affirmative answer could be given, the Justice ruled that the question was irrevelant, and bound Jaybird over. This is a pretty kettle of fish for a couple of Judicial officers to present. Jaybird ought to resign and not wait to be kicked off a Bench he has disgraced by impeachment. Mr. Justice, a radical member of the Legislature, has had a committee appointed to investigate the matter with the view of impeaching Jaybird.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal has a very "level" head on some subjects. And here is one on which it talks very wisely.

Norfolk Journal.

One of our Kentucky exchanges declares with great solemnity that "if there happens to be a row or disturbance of any sort the Courier-Journal makes even a bigger fuss about it than the Radicals." Certainly we do. Such things are grist to the Radical mill. Why should the Radicals "make a fuss?" It is the Democratic party which is injured, and, having an interest in the well-being of that party, we naturally desire to stop the course of lawlessness. Hence our "fuss."

☞ Mind how you talk, brethren, or "We, Us & Co." who have a right to say "none genuine unless countersigned by us," will charge you with radicalism.

Two young Norfolk gents went on a visit to an old friend in Williamsburg who was connected with the Lunatic Asylum. About the same time the old friend left on a visit to them in Norfolk. When he reached there he wrote back to the Asylum "to take care of the two young men, that they were of unsound mind and at times rather dangerous characters." The young men didn't enjoy their visit.

Bill in Regard to Fences and Stock.

Mr. Reid, one of the Representatives from Mecklenburg, has introduced the following Bill in the House:

Bill to authorize the Counties of the State to regulate the running at large of Stock.

Section 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact as follows: It shall be lawful for the Board of Commissioners of any County of this State to submit to the qualified voters of their respective counties the question whether the land owners and occupants thereof shall be compelled to keep up fences around their cultivated grounds. The said Board shall, under the rules and regulations prescribed by law, submit said question as follows, viz: Those in favor of abolishing the existing laws in regard to fences to vote the words, Against the Fence Law; those opposed to such abolition to vote the words: For the Fence Law, and if a majority of those voting at any election held as aforesaid, shall vote against the fence laws, it is enacted, and the Board of Commissioners shall declare, that so much of chapter forty-eight of the Revised Code, or of any, if any other laws, heretofore enacted requiring planters to keep fences around their cultivated grounds, be after such declaration repealed.

Sec. 2. In counties which shall vote as aforesaid against fence laws, the owners of horses or other stock, which shall commit trespass and damage, shall be liable for the same in civil action, and all stock found at large shall be dealt with as strays, under chapter one hundred and nine of the Revised Code.

Sec. 3. This act shall be in force from its ratification.

Auburn, Ill., has had a great scandal. There came to that place, from Ohio, a young gentleman who had eloped with his stepmother; The father and husband wrote to the errant wife to come home and be forgiven; she swore that she would rather die than leave her "affinity" and the youth was equally ardent. But father came after her and carried her off, leaving his son inconsolably howling. Children have not usually been over fond of stepmothers, generally manifesting a disposition to run away from them rather than with them. However these odd things are not without precedent ancient and classical.

At Binghamton a favorite mode of winning "the drinks" is for a sharper to bet with a yokel that he can stand an egg on end "right out on the floor," and the yokel can't break it with a half bushel measure. The bet is taken, and the fiend in human shape puts the egg precise in the corner, and if you wish to know how it is yourself you would do well to try the experiment.

The Princess Lambretti, of Italy, is a new star in N. York fashionable society. The princess is tall and stately, a brunette, and about twenty-two years of age. She converses in five languages, and is a thorough magician. At a reception given her recently by Mrs. Geo. Townsend, the hostess and princess received under a dome of exotics, and were attired respectively in white satin and blue velvet.

It is a fact of no little significance that not only is the Princess Louise, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria, to marry a Presbyterian, but the wedding, to the great scandal of strict churchmen, is even to take place in Lent.

The Graves' Warehouse.

We call the special attention of Planters to the annexed Circular from Graves' Warehouse, in Danville, Va., and recommend this Warehouse to all North Carolinians taking their Tobacco to Danville. Capt. Graves, whose name the Warehouse bears, is a Caswell man, and a man of the right grit—with the assistance of our old friend Capt. McDearman, (one of the partners) he can equal creation catching a fox or running a first class tobacco Warehouse. We do not say you will get more for your Tobacco at this Warehouse than any other, or will be better treated, but we do say you will get as much for your weed at this House as any other and as good treatment. Here is the

CIRCULAR.

DANVILLE, VA., FEB. 22ND, 1871.

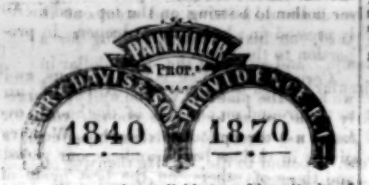
To the Planters of North Carolina and Virginia:

Owing to the very heavy receipts and bad order of the Tobacco, prices are not so high as at our last report. Our receipts last week were 84,896 pounds, amounting to $12,827.67. For the same week last year 50,517 pounds, amounting to $6,969.73,—Showing an increase of 25,379 pounds and an average $15.10 against an average of $11.71 for the corresponding week last year. As we are unable to inform our friends when our sales come off, we advise you to bring to your Tobacco in tierces, boxes or hogsheads, so that we can select our time to sell. To all such we will make liberal advances. You cannot be too careful in handling, ordering and assorting your Tobacco.

Respectfully,

Graves, McDearman & Co.

SPECIAL NOTICE.



Travellers are always liable to sudden attacks of Dysentary and Cholera morbus, and these occurring when absent from home, are very unpleasant. The Pain Killer may always be relied upon in such cases. As soon as you feel the symptoms, take 1 teaspoonful in a gill of new milk and molasses and a gill of hot water, stir well together and drink hot. If the pains be severe, bathe the bowels & back with the medicine clear.

In cases of Asthma and Phthisic, take a teaspoonful in a gill of hot water sweetened in molasses; also bathe the throat and stomach with the medicine, clear.

Dr. Sweet says it takes out the soreness in bone-setting faster than anything he ever applied.

Fishermen so often exposed to hurts by having their skin pierced with hooks, and fins of fish, can be relieved by bathing with the Pain Killer as soon as the accident occurs; in this way the anguish is soon abated; bathe as often as once in five minutes say three or four times, and you will seldom have any trouble. The bites and scratches of dogs and cats are soon cured by bathing with the Pain Killer clear.

TO THE LADIES—Thousands of American ladies suffer and die every year from diseases peculiar to their sex: in fact, it is extremely rare at the present day to find a female who is entirely free from some one or the other of the many physical afflictions peculiar to womanhood. Very many females go on from year to year without hope, simply because they do not know to whom to apply for relief—for the VERY FREQUENCY and EXTENT of female diseases in their midst is good evidence to them that the "common TREATMENT" is not successful. In consequence of the numerous applications made to me for relief, I have experienced indeed to meet female diseases, and their best method of cure, a "SPECIALITY," and I will therefore say to those suffering from any disease of the sex, whether it be a slight derangement or irregularity, (which is often followed by a "decline,") or any of the worse or more painful forms of disease, that my remedies are SAFE, PLEASANT and EFFECTUAL, and are prepared in accordance with Nature's laws in regulating health. I have CURED hundreds whom I have never seen, and who only obtained their medicines AFTER having sent me a Plain description of their cases. Describe YOUR symptoms PLAINLY, and enclose "FIVE DOLLARS" for medicine and advice to DR. J. J. LAWRENCE, Wilson, N. C.

Medicine prepared specially to suit each case, and mailed FREE.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

For Raleigh.

Lucinda Morrow—the wife of one of the Morrow negroes shot by disguised men in this County year before last, has been taken to Raleigh, as we learn. It will be remembered that these three Morrow negroes were strongly believed to have been the parties who burnt the three barns that night and entailed so much suffering on some of the best white families in the County.

☞The Charlotte Democrat says a New York Advertising Agency recently sent it an advertisement half a column long and worth $75, to be inserted for $11, less the Agency's 25 per cent commissions. Guess we received the same "liberal" offer, and consigned it to the flames. These 'Agency' fellows annoy us no little. They are either great fools themselves or fishermen for fools. They send us advertisements and want them inserted for a mere song; and we see these same advertisements published in other papers; but we will see the Agencies in Jericho before we will touch their offers for less than our published advertising terms. Besides seven-tenths of these "Advertising Agencies" are Peter Funk swindlers and scoundrels.

We have'nt received the Hillsboro' Recorder for several weeks. What's the matter? Gone up? Yadkinian.

"Gone up"! Better "go up" than "go down!" Bad luck to small-potatoes if we "go up" too high to see the Robesonian by looking "down." How's y'r health, ole fel? Got any more misrepresentations in reserve for us?

Alum and Iron Mass.

Our esteemed friend, Col. W. B. Payne, late of Danville, Va., has sent us from Abingdon, Va., (to which section he has removed,) a bottle of Alum and Iron Mass, extracted from the alum wells of Washington county, by Dr. Lancaster. It is said to be an excellent tonic, alterative and absorbent, and is especially useful to ladies suffering from affections peculiar to the sex. It has been endorsed by the medical board wherever introduced, and an analytical examination by a distinguished chemist of New York, developed the following ingredients in this mass:

Sulphuric Acid,
Alumina,
Oxide of Iron,
Lime,
Magnesia,	As sulphates.
Potasa,
Soda.
Carbonic Acid,
Phosphoric Acid,
Silica,
Organic matter.

This mass seems to be good for most of the diseases that flesh and blood are heir to, and Col. Payne is Travelling Agent for the sale of it.

A Nice Present.

Our feet seem to be the best part about us. This time Charley Parks has dressed them up in a pair of elegant slippers with a rose lying loving on their tips. It would just break up a whole female school to see us gliding about in those slippers!

Charley Parks has the handsomest Boot and Shoe store west of Raleigh. He is also going to keep the best and finest of Groceries. Just tell us, will you, a man or a woman in this country who won't trade with him?

An Honest Negro.

Sometime since an old negro man named Faucett living out on the Bayne place brought us some eggs which he sold for two dozen. The other day he brought us three eggs. Said they belonged to us. He had found out "it lacked three." We'd have never known the mistake or even have thought about it.

A Splendid Razor.

Dr. H. W. Cole of Danville is a most excellent man. We saw Dr. Cole fine an old friend two dollars for just "cursing on the street." Out this way we are of opinion that "cursing on the street" is one of the fashions that makes a gentleman. What say our mayors?

Hitch to the Train that goes to Richmond.

We will soon spread our same old list before you for the Spring season. God willing will be in Richmond in less than a week. There are two firms in the city representing each a separate line of business. We advertise for no other houses in their line. The one is Kellogg & Gibson (China, Glassware and Crockeryware) and the other Weisiger & Co. (Ready made Clothing House.) We believe pretty nearly all of our Trade goes to these Houses now. Keep on going. And you "no" issue" merchants go there too. They won't hurt you. We know the men of both Houses—the first in the city—and squarer fairer more honest Firms never made a sale of goods to the North Carolina trade.

Please don't forget A. Y. Stokes & Co for your Groceries. How we like that Firm! Send them tobacco and Corn too.

Geo. I. Herring & Co for your Liquors.

And as for the men that make tobacco a specialty why we can give you a baker's dozen of them. There's Nat Wilson (the cleverest best hearted friend in the world, and he knows how to sell Tobacco—now—you bet,) and Wise Bros. (Don't you like that name? we do;) and Hill, Bentley & Skinker (they swear by it in Milton,) and Walter K. Martin (heavy timber that!) and W. R. Pugh (old Person believes in him) and R. C. Morton (Danville ships to him) and Jeter & Harris (You ask Flat River!) All of these men are O K!

GREENSBOROUGH.

SUPERIOR COURT IN SESSION.

A Negro Conjurer to be tried for poisoning—A man for cutting up a negro with his dogs. A Highway Robbery Case.

[From our own Correspondent.]

We arrived here this evening (Monday.) Stepped into the Callum Drug Store and found it crowded with customers. Asked how was that for high? and were told they sold such fine articles and at such cheap figures that the people couldn't help from coming. It is indeed a beautiful first class city Drug Store. Greensboro is fast improving. R. S. Wood of Wilson opens soon an Ice cream and Confectionery Store and a Mr. Lewey from New York is soon to open a Millinery.

Judge Tourgee adjourned the Court today till Thursday. He was summoned to Raleigh before the Impeachment Court. A crowd of country people were left standing about on the green. Of the cases to be tried there are three that will be of curious interest. The first is

A POISONING CASE.

It seems that an old lame negro doctor called "Doctor Ratliff" does most the practice down in the Centre neighborhood and he and a white doctor named Ross are right jealous, one of another. Ratliff is a regular conjurer. Pete and Mary Mebane (his sister) got sick. They sent right off for Ratliff. He come, dressed up in all sort of charms and witchifying notions. Tied a silver dollar to a string and went out in the yard, on his all-fours, looking for a "stamp," and swinging the silver dollar in a circular motion as he moved. At last he dug in the ground on one side of the house and found a "stamp," and then he said: "Pete, is bound to die!" He then dug on the other side of the house and found another "stamp."

when he carried them into the house were nothing but lumps of old dough and horse hair. And he pitched them in the fire and the witness says they "curled up like a snake and fell out on the hearth." And then Ratliff said again; "Pete, is bound to die." He then asked for some whiskey. Told him they had none. Said he was bound to have some 'fore he could operate. And they sent off and got a quart. He took the silver dollar and put it on the end of his tongue and drank the whole quart over it. He then administered his medicine which he says was nothing but Red Oak bark and alum. But two weeks before he died Doctor Ross was called in and he swears that Pete was killed by Ratliff's treatment. The same in regard to Mary. Both of them attended her. The State also proves that Ratliff said when Pete first sent for him: "He has been pizened." Scott and Scott are for the State and Mendenhall and Staples for the Defendant.

The next case is that of a negro man named Tom Price, who was eaten up by dogs. It is

THE PARKER CASE.

W. S. Parker lives 6 miles from Greensboro. He is a bold reckless fellow. Keeps a pack of cur dogs—the worst in the country. He has had two of his barns burnt. And one night as he was going across his field he saw a man putting a shovel of live coals under one of his outhouses. He set his dogs after him and they caught him who proved to be this negro, Tom Price. He took him to his house and Tom confessed he was the one that burnt his barns. Made him confess it to his family and then sent off for Alf Gilmer and made him confess it to him. Turned him loose and dogs seized negro again. Asked Gilmer to show the negro out. Went back in his house. Next morning found negro in his old field dead with one of his feet and part of one of his legs eaten off. Both Parker and Gilmer are indicted. Scott & Scott for State and Mendenhall & Staples for Defendants.

The last case of interest is that of Gregg for HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

George W. Gregg is a big framed fellow with a big black moustache that he cuts half way down to his lip and he has a little black sneaking eye. The affidavit of James Patterson of Chatham—the man he robbed—is as follows: I was coming up to Greensboro in the month of October in a one horse wagon loaded with one keg of brandy. I was in company with a man named Overman. Was traveling the public road. As I got opposite Gregg's house he ran out in the road and went along with me for a quarter of a mile. After he had asked me what was in the keg and I had told him Brandy—he told me he was a Revenue Officer—a gauger. Said I had to give it up to him and musn't move another inch up the road but had to turn back. I turned my wagon round and started back. Gregg and Overman walked on in front. Returning I saw Mr. Coble plowing near the roadside and I asked him if G. was a revenue officer. Said not to his knowledge. While talking Gregg started back and told me to come on. Drove on after him. When got to same place as first he told me to drive out of the road to his shop. Refused. Said he was going to have that keg of liquor. Told him he'd have to over power me best. He picked up a flint rock and struck me with it 3 or more times. Took the keg out to his shop. I went back to Magistrate J. R. Woods and had him arrested. Scott and Scott for defendant, Mendenhall & Staples for State.

DEATH OF A GOOD WOMAN.

Mrs. James Sloan of Greensboro died here last Friday morning. She was 64 years old. She had been a member of the Presbyterian Church for 24 years. Her life went out like a candle. The Rev. Jacob Henry Smith preached her funeral sermon Sunday. No other churches had service. It was a powerful effort of Mr. Smith. In his sermon he said when a christian went to heaven they looked down on their friends on earth and were grieved when they did anything wrong. That dying to a christian was but "going home."

THE PATRIOT.

This noble old paper is now being enlarged. The design is to make it the largest in size in the State. All success to it. And it deserves a heap.

SALEM.

We hear just now that two or three big Firms in this town have gone up the inevitable spout. Won't mention names for fear of being incorrect. More anon.

FIFTEEN DAYS ON THE STORMY OCEAN.

[Correspondence to the Hillsboro Recorder.]

The following diary has been sent us by an English gentleman who lately came over with his father on a visit to this country and at present is stopping at the Mountain House in Morganton:

LIVERPOOL—Wednesday, Jan. 25th 1871: Went on board Screw Steamship (European propeller) at 10 o'clock. Walked about deck till she got out of dock. Weather very cold. Five of us dined together, viz: a French lady and gentleman, a young gentleman Farmer, my father and self—all bound for Norfolk (Va.) Poor Daddy wanted some beer, none allowed yet. Taking in Coal while at anchor in the river Mersey.

Thursday 26th: Left the River early in the morning: got up after a sleepless night caused by the noise of discharging coals and weighing anchor, starting for sea. At 8 o'clock had Breakfast on Beefsteak. Beautiful view of the receding Welsh hills, calm sea, walked about deck.

Friday 27: Got up to Breakfast, Ling fish and Rolls, couldn't eat very much. Sea, ground swell, about 60 miles off the coast of Ireland, (shot the cat!) went on deck, walked about, had dinner, (kidney pie.) Poor dear Father could not eat nor our French friends. The young Farmer (Mr. E.) all right. (I shot the cat again.) Could not do any sea, went to my Berth, stormy night, moving up and down all night first on my head then on my feet; very poorly, awfully frightened when the first sea broke over us in the pitch dark,—dear father keeps brave.

Saturday 28: Very rough, sea rolling awfully, very poorly, in Berth all day, what half a cup of Barley soup. Dear father got up after dinner went on deck and fell down. A very heavy sea. Things all alive in the ship. Jugs breaking. Boxes running about as if they had legs. Doors banging. The sea dashing over us. I am still in my Berth which I find is the best place. The sailors are hoisting up the sails and are singing in time: "He, Ho, away we go," which puts a lively feeling into us, and there be a dear little Canary in the adjoining saloon singing as merry as a cricket. Got up had some sea, felt little better; ship rolling half over. We amused ourselves in the evening by singing some songs, the French Lady sung very well.

Sunday 29th: Divine service in the saloon. The Captain was parson. Sang the evening hymn in the evening (son of my soul.) I went on deck, a strong wind and heavy sea, a wave came right on me and nearly wet me through. Had dinner; roast beef and plum pudding; knives forks and plates flying about. Very rough after our dinner. 1st saloon things flying about, sea covering decks, rolls very much we stand it very well, saloon passengers do not cheer up at all, French friends retire to Berth very poorly, still very rough, dreadful wind and sea, water dashing over us, noise dreadful, two sails blown away ourselves rather quiet.

Monday 30: Got up in the morning, went on deck, the sea a little calmer, took Madame B. on deck nearly blown away. Mr. B. ventured up after, amused ourselves with parle-francais. Ship rolling; Mr. H. came in from 1st saloon—sang some songs—right rough and windy, knocked my head against the ceiling of the ship.

Tuesday 31: Got up early went on deck very pleasant day. Getting friendly with nearly all on board who are recovering from sea sickness. Gave Mr. P. (steerage passenger) some citrate of magnesia and coaxed the steward to give him some soup as he was ill. Sea rolling but not so rough, wind changed from west to east, amused ourselves by making rabbits on the wall—pretty jolly!

Wednesday Feb. 1st: Wind changed to North East blowing quite a gale. Sea in perfect storm foaming, raging, dashing on the ship, awfully grand, rather quiet all of us; had a chat with the purser in his cabin.

Feb 2: After a bad night, trying to stick to my Berth, 'bout an hour's sleep, got up to breakfast. Beefsteak and Irish stew. Went on deck by myself, very rough, wind changed from stern to stern—storm increasing, waves rolling mountain high, tempestuous wind, ship trembling like an aspen leaf and shipping heavy seas, went outside and fell down twice, hurt a little, night coming on, awful sight the sea like a boiling cauldron, lightning and rain. Went to bed, the ship rolling nearly over constantly. The Captain said that in the night she stood on her stern, reared up like a horse, shook violently turned half round by the dreadful force of the sea. We are all pretty quiet just now. Makes poor dear daddy ill. I gave him a glass of ale to help to cheer him up. About middle of night such an awful noise as if she were going to pieces; down! came the whole glass and decanter stand in the saloon and broke all to pieces. All the jugs and basins dashing about as if they were alive and adding to our alarm—but thank God the morning has come so we can see our danger and though safe the sea smashed one of the boats by the force of the waves.

Feb 3: Very rough and stormy. A steamer passed homeward bound. Have to sit in the saloon with a lamp lit as the skylights are covered up. Cheared up a little at for dinner. Sea not so high. Sat and talked till bed time.

Feb 4—After a good night's sleep and momentary rocking got up to breakfast on potato pie. Read a little; went on deck, strong wind—but the sea calmer—about half way across the Atlantic—after dinner the wind and sea increasing makes poor dear father nervous, making very little advance.

Sunday 5—Sea very rough. Bell tolls for church. The sea coming over the ship like the Niagara falls and rolling mountain high.

THE CAPTAIN SAYS

he has had twelve years of it but never saw such weather.

Monday 6—After a very rough night and no sleep for fear of being rolled out of my bunk which is above the others and the constant rocking of the cradle—60 rocks a minute—got up and had breakfast. Wind and sea still very rough; went on deck a little for change of air.

Tuesday 7—Sea a little calm. Went on deck and read aloud to company for an hour from "Good Words." Held a concert. Played violin with Madame Brown who sang some very sweet French airs; spent pleasant evening. Strong head wind.

Feb 8—Heavy rains all day. Wind changed to stern; going ahead pretty well, completed 1885 miles at noon. Had a word with the chief steward about bad dinners. Reading and arguing with the purser who comes for a change to our saloon. Afternoon getting rough and shipping some heavy seas—fair wind—shaved myself for the first time since I left home, Mr. C. shaved Mr. B.

Thursday 9—The Captain took soundings and found us over the banks of Newfoundland in 34 fathoms of water. Very windy last night. The square sail blown to pieces and looked like a clothes line hung with dirty rags. Ate good breakfast. Had a blow on deck. Read story to the company from Pickwick. After tea held concert, kept it up till 11 o'clock, enjoyed it very much, some good songs were sung, dear daddy sung better than I ever heard him. Done over 2150 miles.

Friday 10—Not all so well. Ship rolling a good deal. Couldn't eat much breakfast. Beautiful morning, like Spring; walked on deck for hour or two; getting cold in the evening; very quiet; went to bed early.

Saturday 11—Strong wind ahead. Rain, hail and snow—very cold; walked with Mr. T. the purser, on second deck—Mr. B. walking about unwell with pocket handkerchief round his head like playing at blind man's buff.

Sunday 12—Went on deck very cold, went to church.

THE SEA

30 degrees warmer than the air which was 5 degrees below freezing point. A curious phenomenon was seen by the officers on deck last night: The yard arms and masts were apparently on fire. Was caused by passing through an electric current.

Monday 13—Sea and ships rolling very much. Poor dear daddy out of sorts could not eat anything, had some brandy and water and shot the cat. Very cold raw day. A shoal of porpoises, hundreds of them, swimming and gambolling around the ships—making quite a lively scene. We are getting nearer to the land of the free. Gone 2779 miles.

Feb 14—Dear daddy got up first this morning. Sea pretty calm. Rather strong wind. Went with sir. T. and helped him copy his log. Daddy not very well had a glass of brandy and went to bed. I went and had a topos with chief engineer on general subjects—he is a nice fellow.

The sun is setting on a troubled sea casting a golden tint on the water in front of the ship. Dark cloudy sky, foam of the sea looking like rolling fleeces moving about in all directions intermingled with beautiful patches of sea green. Evening, sea and wind very rough with rain shipping water.

Feb 15—After a good night's sleep got up and walked on deck. Beautiful morning, the sea getting high and quite a calm. The sun shining in a cloudless sky. All excitement to see land ahead. Sighted land about 11 A. M. The beautiful sea like glass and dotted about with sails like a flock of sea gulls. Took pilot on board at 12 o'clock who took dear daddy for Captain! Was glad of it for the Captain had previously offended me. Custom house officer came on board rowed in a boat by 6 niggers. I saw the first steamboat with Engine Beam working outside deck. Getting near the shore. Drank a bottle of wine in commemoration of our safe arrival and thanked the blessed Lord for his preserving care. Got into Norfolk by the landing stage at 4 o'clock.

NEGRO ROW AT CHESTER, S. C.

From our own Correspondent.

We have just learned on the Central train that a serious threatening among the negroes occurred at Chester (S. C.) on yesterday. So much so that Charlotte was telegraphed to for help and forty young men from that place went over last night. They returned this morning (Wednesday) and reported all quiet. Though the negroes there had been publicly and imprudently drilling. We warn all honest and industrious negroes not to countenance any feature of this sort. Their race is doomed if they do.

Milton.

(From an occasional Correspondent.)

DROWNED IN DAN RIVER.

MILTON, N. C., March 6, '71.

A negro man named Phunk Walker was drowned in Dan River, near Milton, last Saturday morning. He was 66 years old and had been a boatman on Dan River 35 years. It appears that he aimed to step from one boat to another and missed his step, when he fell in the River and was drowned; the water being very high and running very swift, he could not save himself.

Death of an aged & much esteemed Lady.

Died, in Milton, on Thursday the 2nd of March, Mrs. ANN H. OWEN, consort of the late Jesse Owen, in the 79th year of her age. She was a lady esteemed and highly respected by all who knew her.

☞There's nothing important of a public "nater" from the "Legislater."

☞To the transient traveler stopping in Hillsboro we recommend the hospitable mansion of Mrs. Owen where he will always find an elegant table and nice room.

A New Year's Greeting to the Planters,
BY THE Planter's Warehouse,
DANVILLE, VA.

JAMES M. NEAL & CO., Proprietors.

A happy, prosperous New Year to all of you! We beg to call your attention to the fact that we have since last season added to our Warehouse a Brick addition of hundred and twenty ft. making our House one of the largest in our town, and the only Brick Warehouse here; this has been with an eye to better facilitate the unloading and weighing of Tobacco.

In addition to this, looking to the comfort of Planters who occasionally have to encounter all kinds of weather when they market their Tobacco, we have fitted up our CASH House (which by the way is the largest in our place) with Beds & Bedding which is kept cleanly at all times. We also have a Cooking Stove and cook to render you facilities in that line. We also have a fine Well of Water, in our yard, surrounded by 50 good stables, most of which have locks and keys, and last but not least the best Auctioneer in the State and the good will of all the buyers.

NOTICE.

THOSE indebted to me are expected to pay at once. All accounts must be settled by 15th February. The few who have accounts will, I hope, attend to them immediately.

Which is the butt end of a goat?

"You're a queer chicken," as the hen said when she hatched out a duck.

A negro after gazing at the Chinese exclaimed: "If de white folks is as dark as dat out dere I wonder what's de col'r ob de niggers?"

It was a wise negro, who in speaking of the happiness of married people, said, "Dat 'pends altogedder on how dey 'joy deyselves."

"I can't find bread for my family," said a lazy fellow. "Nor I," replied an industrious miller, "I'm obliged to work for it."

A Western paper has an article on "the care of idiots." A cotemporary says that paper is always dragging family affairs before the public.

"Woman is a delusion, madam!" exclaimed a crusty old bachelor to a witty young lady. "And man is always hugging some delusion or other," was the quick reply.

A Shoemaker's Coloquy:—I'm drawing to the end of time,—am tracing weaker,—a few more stitches and awl will be over. In heaven there is rest for the sole,—there all our troubles are heeled at last.

The will of a defunct California doctor directs that his body shall be dissected, and the skeletons shall be well "wired together," and placed in the medical college, in case his wife shouldn't want it as a mantle ornament.

At a juvenile party the other day, one little fellow rejoicing in the splendor of his new clothes, sidled up to another with the triumphant remark, "You ain't dressed as well as I am." "Well," retorted the other, "I can lick you, anyhow."

Widows are estimated by the square mile in New Hampshire. Twenty to the mile is thought to be a good ratio. If a "Miss is as good as a mile," isn't it rather rough on the widows to count twenty of them to one Miss?

A candidate for the position of school teacher in Alabama recently replied to a question by one of the examiners, "Do you think the world is round or flat?" by saying. "Well, some people think one way and some another; and I'll teach round or flat, just as the parents please."

The Anoka (Minn.) Press offers to take any of the following articles on subscription: Butter, beef, beans, cash, chickens, dry wood, eggs, fat pigs, good flour, hams, ink, jury certificates, "korn," lard, mutton, olive oil, potatoes, quails, rutabagas, road district orders, shirts, "store pay," town orders, venison, wood, X's, yarn, wheat, barley, oats, or if nothing else can be spared, paper rags.

Several Sundays ago, a collection was about to be taken up in one of our churches and and in the absence of one of the regular collectors, a frisky young man volunteered his services and handed around his hat with great industry and success. When he got near the door, he was about to go out, with the hat-full of money on his head, when the minister said solemnly, "Young man, if you leave here with that money, you'll be damned." The young man, however, left in a hurry and, as he shut the door behind him, a worthy old brother, with a voice on F sharp, who had put a dollar in the hat, piped out to the minister, "Well, if he ain't gone with it, I'll be d—d!"

A youngster attending school in Paducah has written his mother the following characteristic letter:

"Dear mother—I got another licking yesterday, but I had on three pair o'pants, and it didn't hurt much. I was licked because I put six pins in Mr———'s chair. I knew they would not stick him, and I made a bet that they would not. Mr.—— was so mean and hard that the pins could not go in. I won the bet, which was a dog. He is a good dog, and I am training him to bite old 'Hardsides,' as we call him, some night when he comes home after dark. He is often out after dark, and if Zack is as good after him as he is after cats, I won't get licked any more. Zack and I killed three cats Sunday, though I was at Sunday school and church all day, and it wasn't a good day for killing cats either. This makes the third licking I got this week. One was because I had a bottle of milk in my room, and the other was because I wrote a composition on negroes that old Hardsides didn't like. I said that a negro was a dark subject to write on. It was like a dark African going down a dark cellar on a dark night without a light to look for a black cat that was not there. Old Hardsides stopped me and then licked me for that. Send me some more of them pies. I made a good trade with some of them. If you will send me five dollars I will stop all my bad habits except cursing and swearing and chewing and drinking and one or two others. You had better make the trade. Give my love to Julie, and tell her to send me that little fiddle I left in the old trunk.

"Your affectionate son,

"RILLIE."

SQUARE & UPRIGHT
Piano Fortes.
Warerooms No. 350 West Balt. St. near Eutaw, BALTIMORE.
These Instruments have been before the Public for nearly 30 years, and upon their excellence alone attained an unparalleled pre-eminence which pronounces them unequalled. Their combines great power, sweetness and fine singularity, as well as great purity of Intonation, and evenness throughout the entire scale. Their TOUCH
TONE
is pliant and elastic, and entirely free from the stiffness found in so many Pianos. In WORKMANSHIP
they are unexcelled, using none but the very best seasoned material, the large capital employed in our business enabling us to keep continually an immense stock of lumber, &c. on hand.
All our Square Pianos have our New Improved Overstrung scale and the Agraffe Treble.
We would call special attention to our late improvements in GRAND PIANOS and SQUARE GRANDS, Patented Aug. 14, 1866, which bring the Piano nearer perfection than has yet been attained. Every Piano fully Warranted for 5 years.

WAREHOUSE!
MILTON, N. C.
TO THE PLANTERS
Of Caswell, Person, and adjoining counties of N. Carolina and Virginia!
WE the undersigned beg leave to inform the public that we have opened a for the sale of Leaf TOBACCO in the town of Milton. Our Warehouse is situated on Liberty street. Persons coming across Country line bridge will take the right and avoid the famous hill known as the "Milton Hill" as we have fixed an excellent Road at our own expense.
WAREHOUSE
OUR SALES-ROOM IS LARGE,
80 by 400 feet, with fine sky lights. We have an excellent Wagon Yard where your stock will be perfectly secure. We have also a good house for our customers to sleep in. We feel that our market will be as good as other markets. Farmers may feel that there will be ample buyers for all Tobacco that may come to our market.
We respectfully invite the planters from this and adjoining counties to give us a trial, feeling satisfied that we can please.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a
HAIR DRESSING,
nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.
